Short Term Program in Ayurveda (Online)
(15-12-2025 to 21-12-2025)

Objectives: To equip participants with foundational knowledge, practical skills, and exposure to research methods in Ayurveda, enhancing their education and clinical expertise.

Coverage: This short-term program will explore the areas like education, research and clinical skills in the field of Ayurveda. It will orient the participants about the recent advances in the field of education at Undergraduate and post graduate level based on NEP 2020.

Pedagogy: The pedagogy for a short-term online program on Ayurveda will focus on interactive, holistic, and practical learning while integrating elements of research, education, and clinical skills. Content will be delivered in concise modules combining theoretical concepts with practical applications alongside an introduction to Ayurvedic research methodologies and evidence-based practices. Emphasis on the cultural significance of Ayurveda, balanced with modern clinical relevance, ensures authenticity. Regular feedback, assessments, and discussions will foster critical thinking and ensure an immersive, enriching experience.
